Scottish Poetry Library
Bringing people and poems together

MAGAZINES

The magazines listed are those that are we have current subscriptions for. Back runs of these and many other periodicals, either no longer in existence or no longer subscribed to, are not included here, but are fully accessible within the library.

The magazines listed are of interest of both readers and writers of poetry. Writers aiming to have their poetry published in magazines are strongly advised to familiarise themselves with a particular magazine before submitting work. We endeavour to keep these details up-to-date, but always recommend double checking editor's names and contact information on the individual publication's website. Different magazines have different submission guidelines and these need to be followed.
